A Boy Kills Himself with Liquer.
Coroner Emmert held an inquest, yesterday afternoon, on the body of a boy by the name of Francis Behrman. He was sixteen years old, and worked in a pottery on the corner of Hamilton road and Dinniap street. He was generally a sober, industrious youth, but last Saurday told his boylsh companions that he was gging toget drunk that night.

In the evening, instead of giving his full week's wages to his mother, as he usually did, he withheld adollar or two, and with this money he bought the liquor that caused his death. Sitting on Mohawk bridge, he sent one of his playments to a saloon a number of times for beer, each time getting a quart. He treated half a dozen of the boys who were with him on the bridge several times with beer, but after a while they refused to take any more, and he had to drink it himself. When he had drank a large quantity of beer, it is not been and the condidation of the constitution of the constitution of the constitution of the part of that. Finally, he fell into soprofound a stupor that he could drink no more, and had to look carried home. His mother and one of her neighbors put him to bed about 9 ociock, and yesterday morning found a him dead.

The verdict of the lury was death from a poplexy, caused by intemperance.
